TAX BENEFITS FOR EDUCATION

Special thanks to: Courtney O'Reilly and Sarah Castro for their contributions to this module.

Objectives

By the end of this module you will...

- Be able to determine who qualifies for an education credit
- Be able to determine which credit the taxpayer can claim
- Be able to determine if the taxpayer has scholarship/grant income or eligible expenses

Tax Benefits for Education Overview

Introduction to Tax Benefits for Education

Introduction to Tax Benefits for Education

This lesson covers tax credits available to help the taxpayer offset the costs of higher education by reducing the amount of income tax.

- Education credits reduce the amount of tax due or increase the amount of refund you may receive, and are based on qualified education expenses that the taxpayer paid during the tax year.
- There are two different education credits:
 - American Opportunity Credit (AOC)
 - Lifetime Learning Credit (LLC)
- Taxpayers may be eligible to claim both credits if the education expense is for different students or is paid to different institutions.
- There are general rules that apply to these credits, as well as specific rules for each credit.
- There are other benefits to look out for as well:
 - Qualified Tuition Plan 529
 - Veteran Benefits
 - Employer Benefit
- Additional Resources: Publication 4012 and Publication 970

Introduction to Tax Benefits for Education

There are 2 ways education expenses can affect a tax return.

- Taxable scholarship/grant income
- Scholarship/Grant/Fellowship is reported as income.

NOTE: Scholarship/grant income is reported on the student's return, regardless of who claims the student. It must be reported as income if it is not used for Qualified Education Expenses or the student is not a degree candidate.

- Tax credit
 - American Opportunity Credit
 - Lifetime Learning Credit

NOTE: These credits are calculated on the return of the taxpayer who is qualified to claim the student as a dependent. Full-time Students under the age of 24 who are not claimed as a dependent on another person's return, are only entitled to the non-refundable portion of the American Opportunity Credit (unless the parents are deceased.)

Introduction to Tax Benefits for Education

During the client intake interview, encountering any one of the following items will require further investigation:

- Form 1098-T, Tuition Statement
- Account statement from school
- This box on page 3 of Form 13614-C is checked:

Did any of the following happen during 2025?

- ☐ (B) You or someone in your family took educational classes (technical school, college, job related, etc.)

(To be completed by certified volunteer) Information to report

- ☐ (B) Taxable scholarship income
- ☐ (B) 1098-T (itemized statement from school, invoice, etc.)
- ☐ (B) Education credit or tuition and fees deduction

Definition of Key Terms

Eligible Institution

An eligible institution is generally any accredited public, nonprofit, or private college, university, vocational school, or other post-secondary institution eligible to participate in the Department of Education FAFSA student loan program.

The school should be able to tell the student if it is an eligible education institution.

A searchable database of all accredited schools is available at:
<https://ope.ed.gov/dapip/#/home>

Eligible Student

An eligible student is the taxpayer, spouse or a dependent who is enrolled in one or more courses that meet the requirements of the American Opportunity Credit or the Lifetime Learning Credit as applicable. The requirements and limitations for each credit are covered later in this module.

Qualified Education Expenses (QEE)

Qualified education expenses include tuition, fees that are required for enrollment, and course materials the student was required to buy from the school.

QEEs for the American Opportunity Credit may include required books, supplies and equipment purchased from third-parties rather than from the educational institution.

The following are qualified education expenses for the purposes of the American Opportunity Credit (AOC) and Lifetime Learning Credit (LLC):

- Tuition and fees required to enroll at or attend an eligible educational institution.
- Course-related expenses, such as fees, books, supplies, and equipment (can include computers) that are required for the courses at the eligible educational institution. These items must be required of all students for the course. For example, if a computer is required for a computer programming course, it would be an eligible expense. Note: QEE are also used to determine the education credits.
- Note: for the LLC, books, materials and computers must be purchased from the eligible educational institution.

Qualified Education Expenses (con't)

Qualified education expenses may also include:

- Non-academic fees, such as student activity fees or other expenses unrelated to the academic course that must be paid to the institution as a condition of enrollment or attendance.
- Qualified Education Expenses do not include Room & Board, sporting event tickets, health insurance, transportation and parking fees.
- Note: Qualified Educational Expenses differ for the AOC and LLC.

Grants and Scholarships

A scholarship, grant or fellowship is tax free (excludable from gross income) only if:

- The student is a candidate for a degree at an eligible educational institution.

A student is considered a candidate for a degree if they are pursuing a degree at a college or university or attends an educational institution that offers a program of training to prepare students for gainful employment in a recognized occupation and is authorized under federal or state law to provide such a program and is accredited by a nationally recognized accreditation agency.

A scholarship, grant or fellowship is tax-free only to the extent that:

- It doesn't exceed qualified education expenses;
- It isn't designated or earmarked for other purposes (such as room and board) and doesn't require (by its terms) that it can't be used for qualified education expenses; and
- It doesn't represent payment for teaching, research, or other services required as a condition for receiving the scholarship. These payments are typically reported as W-2 or Form 1099 earnings.

Form 1098-T, Tuition Statement

Eligible institutions generally issue Form 1098 T, Tuition Statement, to students with account activity during the tax year. 1098 Ts are often shared electronically on their online account.

Note: Universities issue 1098-T to the student. If the student is over age 18, they are considered an adult, and the school cannot disclose the student's financial information to the parent without the student's permission. Although the student provides the information, it is used to prepare the parent's tax return.

The 1098-T is often not enough information to accurately calculate AOC and the student will need to provide a financial statement with an accounting of the amount paid in tuition, fees, etc. and the amount and type of scholarship or grant received.

Student Account Statement

Shows tuition, fees and other expense payments to third parties received for the school by that student.

- An account statement will usually show school bookstore purchases.
- Available from the eligible institution. The Account Statement can help resolve errors on the 1098-T, which sometimes is wrong.
- Can be used to determine which fees paid to the institution qualify as eligible.
- Ask the student if they purchased/rented books or supplies because the American Opportunity Credit includes such third-party purchases required for the course as Qualified Education Expenses.
 - The school account statement usually only includes the book store but students buy/rent from 3rd parties
 - 3rd parties are not allowed by all Education Credits – check your 4012 for details!

Eligibility to Claim Education Credits

Basic Eligibility

To claim an education credit, the following must be true for the taxpayer(s):

- They cannot be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return
 - The student must be the taxpayer, spouse or the dependent of the filer – a dependent cannot file for the Education Credit
- They are not filing as Married Filing Separately
- Their adjusted gross income (AGI) is below the limitations for their filing status*
- They were not nonresident aliens for any part of the tax year, or if they were, they elected to be treated as resident aliens

Who can claim an education credit?

Taxpayers who paid qualified educational expenses for higher education for an eligible student attending an eligible educational institution can claim an education credit.

- Qualified education expenses paid by a dependent, or by a third party for that dependent, are considered paid by the taxpayer who can claim that student as a dependent.
- If a student isn't claimed as a dependent (even if eligible to be claimed), only the student can claim the education credit, no matter who paid the expenses.
 - Anyone paying the expenses (even directly to the institution) is considered to have given a gift to the student who in turn is treated as having paid the expenses.

American Opportunity Credit

American Opportunity Credit (AOC)

- Student must attend an eligible institution.
- Covers qualified expenses: tuition, fees, books and supplies.
- 40% of the credit is refundable.
- Maximum credit of $2,500 per eligible student based on $4,000 of qualifying expenses (multiple students may qualify on the same return, but qualifying expenses are calculated individually).
- Can be claimed for only 4 tax years.
- Must be enrolled at least half-time – it is defined by the Eligible Education Institution, usually by hours. Only needs to be enrolled for at least one term.
- Any felony drug conviction by the student disqualifies them from claiming the credit.
- Married Filing Separately disqualifies you for the credit.
- Available ONLY if the student had not completed the first 4 years of postsecondary education before the tax year.

American Opportunity Credit (con't)

If a student is under the age of 24 and claiming the American Opportunity Credit,

None of the credit is refundable if:

1. the taxpayer claiming the credit is:

a. under age 18, or

b. age 18 at the end of the year, and their earned income was less than one-half of their own support, or

c. a full time student over 18 and under 24 and their earned income was less than one-half of their own support; and

2. the taxpayer has at least one living parent; and

3. the taxpayer doesn't file a joint return

Note: Students can claim the non-refundable part ($1,500) if they have that level of tax liability

Lifetime Learning Credit

Lifetime Learning Credit (LLC)

- Non-refundable tax credit. Covers undergrad, grad and courses to acquire or improve job skills.
- Maximum credit of $2,000 per tax return on $10,000 of qualified expenses.
 - Calculation is 20% of eligible expenses until limit is reached.
- Must attend an eligible institution.
- Qualified expenses include tuition and fees
 - Books only if bought from the educational institution as a condition of enrollment. For example, a nursing program or at a technical school.
 - Books rarely qualify for LLC.
- Per return – expenses from multiple students can be combined to increase qualified expenses toward the overall $10,000 maximum.
- Can be less than half-time student.

Decision Process

- Is AGI within Education Credit / Adjustment limits? Limits are highest for AOC and then LLC
- Does American Opportunity Credit apply? AOC is typically the best credit
 - Are there $4000 of qualified education expenses?
 - Yes, continue.
 - No, consider declaring part of scholarship/grant as taxable to student – caution not to invoke a filing requirement or Kiddie Tax on the student. See Module 8C
- If AOC does not apply, consider Lifetime Learning credit.
 - Is there enough Tax Liability to use the credit?
 - Yes, continue
 - No, you cannot apply the Lifetime Learning Credit

Recap

Recap

Tax Benefits for Education

- Taxpayer must have a Form 1098-T to claim an education credit (subject to limited exceptions). The Taxpayer's Student Account Statement is useful to have to calculate the credit.
- Taxable scholarship/grant income is reported on the student's return when the amount exceeds qualifying education expenses.
- Tax credits are reported on the tax return of the taxpayer who can claim the student as a dependent. The student claims the credit if no taxpayer claims them as a dependent.
 - American Opportunity Credit
 - Lifetime Learning Credit
- In some cases, you can report scholarships as income taxable to the student to maximize education credits.
- See more in Treatment of Scholarships and Grants.

Recap

Credit Conditions	American Opportunity Credit	Lifetime Learning Credit
Maximum credit	Up to $2,500 credit per eligible student	Up to $2,000 credit per return
Limit on modified adjusted gross income (MAGI)	$180,000 if married filing jointly; $90,000 if single, head of household, or qualifying surviving spouse	$180,000 if married filing jointly; $90,000 if single, head of household, or qualifying surviving spouse
Refundable or nonrefundable	40% of credit may be refundable ¹ ; the rest is nonrefundable	Nonrefundable—credit limited to the amount of tax you must pay on your taxable income
Number of years of postsecondary education	Available ONLY if the student had not completed the first 4 years of post secondary education before 2024. See Completion of first 4 years in Publication 970.	Available for all years of postsecondary education and for courses to acquire or improve job skills
Number of tax years credit available	Available ONLY for 4 tax years per eligible student (including any year(s) Hope credit was claimed)	Available for an unlimited number of tax years
Type of program required	Student must be pursuing a program leading to a degree or other recognized education credential	Student does not need to be pursuing a program leading to a degree or other recognized education credential
Number of courses	Student must be enrolled at least half-time ² for at least one academic period beginning during 2024 (or the first 3 months of 2025 if the qualified expenses were paid in 2024)	Available for one or more courses
Felony drug conviction	As of the end of 2024, the student had not been convicted of a felony for possessing or distributing a controlled substance	Felony drug convictions do not make the student ineligible
Qualified expenses	Tuition, required enrollment fees, and course materials that the student needs for a course of study whether or not the materials are bought at the educational institution as a condition of enrollment or attendance	Tuition and required enrollment fees (including amounts required to be paid to the institution for course-related books, supplies, and equipment)
Payments for academic periods	Payments made in 2024 for academic periods beginning in 2024 or beginning in the first 3 months of 2025	Payments made in 2024 for academic periods beginning in 2024 or beginning in the first 3 months of 2025
TIN needed by filing due date	Filers and students must have a TIN by the due date of their 2024 return (including extensions)
Educational institution's EIN	You must provide the educational institution's employer identification number (EIN) on your Form 8863, Education Credits.

Section 2

Eligible Expenses

Objectives

By the end of this section you will...

- Understand which expenses can be claimed for education credits
- Understand how to read Form 1098-T and calculate qualified expenses
- Understand how to interpret Student Account Statements

Determining Eligible Expenses

What does the client need to present?

- Not all eligible education institutions are required to submit the Form 1098-T – please verify that your taxpayers can get it!
 - If not, the student can still file Form 8863 in these cases!
 - They must request the education institution provide the Form 1098-T before the due date of the return or must verify that their institution did not provide the student with a 1098-T because the student met one of the exceptions: for example, the student’s qualified tuition and related expenses are entirely waived or paid entirely with scholarships,
 - They must also qualify for the education benefit
 - They must also be enrolled in an eligible education institution
 - They must also be able to provide substantiation of qualified tuition and related expenses
- A copy of a student account statement is helpful but not required.

1098-T with entries in boxes 4 or 6, indicating prior year adjustments, is out of scope

Calculating expenses available for credit

- The expense must be paid during the calendar year.
 - Expenses paid in December 2025 for Spring 2026 semester qualify for 2025.
- Reduce expenses by any scholarships or grants received.
 - The amount of expenses that exceed scholarships and grants can be used to calculate the credit.
 - The amount of scholarships and grants that exceed expenses is reported on the student's return as income.

Analyzing Student Account Statements

Qualified education expenses DO NOT INCLUDE amounts paid for:

- Insurance
- Medical expenses (including student health fees)
- Room and board
- Transportation
- Similar personal, living, or family expenses. This is true even if the amount must be paid to the institution as a condition of enrollment or attendance.
- Sports, games, hobbies, and noncredit courses. Qualified education expenses generally don't include expenses that relate to any course of instruction or other education that involves sports, games, or hobbies, or any noncredit course. However, if the course of instruction or other education is part of the student's degree program, these expenses can qualify.
- Comprehensive or bundled fees. Some eligible educational institutions combine all of their fees for an academic period into one amount. If you don't receive or don't have access to an allocation showing how much you paid for qualified education expenses and how much you paid for personal expenses, such as those listed earlier, contact the institution. The institution is generally required to make this allocation and provide you with the amount you paid for qualified education expenses on Form 1098-T, Tuition Statement.

Dropped Class

Student Account Statements Example

Using the previous two slides as examples, we can calculate how the Account Statement ties to the 1098-T:

- All payments were received in 2025, and the student has a zero balance on the account.
 - 1098-T Box 1 $9,900 Tuition paid includes:
 - Spring 2025 Tuition = $12,624
 - General Use Fees = $576
 - Dropped Class Tuition = ($3,156)
 - Dropped Class Fee = ($144)
 - The 1098-T Box 5 amount is $5,360 (Pell Grant amount)– noted on the next slide

The amount of expenses that exceed scholarships and grants can be used to calculate the credit.

Based on the Student Account Statement for Ann Harvard
Eligible Expenses = $9,900 - $5,360 = $4,540

Determining Eligible Expenses

- Take care not to double dip on eligible expenses calculation!
- Typically, an expense can only be offset by one funding source – scholarship/grant, 529 plan distributions via Form 1099-Q, employer benefit, Veteran's benefit.
- Eligible expenses that were not paid by these sources can be used for the Education Credits.
- The only exception is IRA deductions that are used to Qualified Education Expenses. These distributions are taxable (possibly not subject to early withdrawal penalty) and can also be used for Education Credits.

Determining Total Expenses

Qualified education expenses:
books, materials, or equipment
required for class

Nonqualified expenses:
rent, meals, health insurance, parking,
student activity fees, or anything not required for class

Section 3

Treatment of Scholarships and Grants

Objectives

By the end of this section you will...

- Understand how to determine if the taxpayer has taxable scholarship/grant income
- Understand when to treat scholarships or grants as income
- Understand when Form 8615 (Kiddie Tax) is required

Tax Rules for Scholarships/Grants

Pell grants and many other scholarships can be treated in one of two ways for tax purposes:

- Excluded from student's income if used for tuition and related expenses. In this case, the scholarship must be subtracted from expenses that would qualify for American Opportunity Credit or Lifetime Learning Credit.

OR

- Included in student's income if used for living expenses. In this case, the scholarship does not reduce the amount of tuition and related expenses that can be used to claim the American Opportunity Credit or Lifetime Learning Credit.

Taxpayer May Choose an Alternate Treatment

In some cases...

- It may seem that minimizing scholarship income would minimize tax liability and increase the taxpayer's refund, but this isn't always true.
- Families may be able to increase their total refund or reduce tax liability by paying some tax on their scholarships/grants and increasing their education credit.
- If a scholarship or grant allows the student to use the money for qualified education expenses or living expense, they have the option to trade-in the tax-free status to take advantage of the sometimes more lucrative education credit.
- When electing this option, you can make an additional amount of qualified expenses useable for education credits, but you must also make the same amount of scholarships taxable to the student.

Taxpayer May Choose an Alternate Treatment

- Students may allocate scholarships to living expenses (up to the amount of actual living expenses) regardless of how their school treats their Pell grant or other unrestricted scholarships.
- We can help taxpayers choose whether to treat their scholarships and grants as used for education expenses (tax-free, but reduces expenses for education credits) or to be used for living expenses (taxable, but keeps expenses for education credits).

Taxpayer May Not Choose Alternate Treatment

In some cases, increasing an education credit by including more scholarship in income is not an option. For example:

- When the terms of the grant or scholarship dictate that it can only be used to pay tuition, fees, and required books.

OR

- When it is not reasonable that the amount of grant or scholarship included in income could have been spent on the student's general living expenses.
 - For example, if the student/parent has no income/loans to pay the tuition or the amount of living expenses is small and will not cover the grant amount taxed.
- Some common items that are considered general living expenses include the following;
 - Rent
 - Transportation
 - Food

Choice is Clear for Some

- The choice is clear for students with education expenses well in excess of their Pell grant or other scholarships as they won't need to include any of their grants in income in order to claim the maximum education credit
- Specifically, if Qualified Education Expenses – Scholarships \geq $4,000, the student could exclude scholarship from income and still maximize the American Opportunity Credit education credit
- Example: In this case, the student already has education expenses of $4,000 ($9,000 qualified tuition less $5,000 in grants) so there is no need to tax the scholarships.

Choice May Be Complicated

- If Qualified Education Expenses – Scholarships < $4,000, the choice is more complicated
- Many Pell grant recipients will fall into this group
- For them, the tax-minimizing choice depends on the student's tax rate (including EITC phase-out) and other factors
- If the student is a dependent, the tax-minimizing choice for the family also depends on the parent's tax liability before accounting for the AOTC

Choice May Be Complicated: Two Rules of Thumb

- In nearly all cases where Qualified Education Expenses – Scholarships < $4,000, the student should include enough scholarship in taxable income in order to claim $2,000 in expenses for the American Opportunity Credit. This is because the first $2,000 in expenses gets $100% in credit.
- Beyond that, in many cases, the student should include enough scholarships in taxable income in order to claim $4,000 in expenses, but only if doing so increases their refund.
- We will focus on taxing the scholarship in order to maximize the American Opportunity Credit as it is unlikely a larger amount of Qualified Education Expenses would result in a higher benefit with the Lifetime Learning Credit.

In Many Cases, But Not All Cases...

Note this statement:

- Beyond the first $2,000 in expenses, in many cases, the student should include enough scholarships in taxable income in order to claim $4,000 in expenses for the American Opportunity Credit
- It is “in many cases.” It is not all cases.

When the Student is a Dependent

- Whenever possible, the best option is to have the parent(s) and student come in together to get their returns prepared.
- Education credit, if any, is claimed by the taxpayer who claims the dependent.
- Scholarship/grant income, if any, is reported on the student's tax return – it is not income of the person who claims the dependent.
- Many dependents have little or no taxable income.
- Check the student's filing requirement on Page A-4 in Pub 4012. Adding scholarship income to a dependent's return may increase the dependent's income enough to create a filing requirement or the dependent may already be required to file a return.
- If the dependent is required to file a return (see Pub 4012, Tab A) and the taxable scholarship income and other unearned income exceeds $2,700, then the Form 8615 is required which will make the return out-of-scope.

Kiddie Tax and Form 8615

To determine if Form 8615 is required, ask the following two questions:

1. Does the dependent have over $2,700 in unearned income (including taxable scholarship income)?
2. Will the dependent file a return?

Single dependents not age 65 or blind must file a return if any of the following apply:

- Their unearned income was more than $1,350 (not including taxable scholarships)
- Their earned income was more than $15,000 (including taxable scholarships)
- Their gross income was more than the larger of
 - a) $1,305, or
 - b) their earned income (up to $14,550) plus $450.

Note that taxable scholarship income is considered unearned for Kiddie Tax (Question 1); however, it is considered earned for purposes of determining dependent filing requirement (Question 2).

If you answer Yes to BOTH questions, Form 8615 is required, and the return is out of scope.

If you do not answer Yes to BOTH questions, Form 8615 is not required, and the return is in scope.

See Pub 4012, page H-5 for additional qualifiers for Form 8615.

Example 1: Does Nick need to file Form 8615?

Scenario: Nick is a full-time student and is claimed as a dependent on his parent's tax return. He worked part-time and made $2,000 during the year. He did not have any scholarship income.

- Form 8615 is required only if the answer to both questions is YES

Answer: Form 8615 is required to determine Nick's tax. The return is out of scope

Recap

Recap

Eligible Expenses

- Families may be able to increase their total refund or reduce tax liability by paying some tax on their scholarships/grants and increasing their education credit.
- In some cases, you can report scholarships as income taxable to the student to maximize education credits. Check when Education Expenses – Grants < $4,000.
- For Pell Grants and other scholarships/grants that allow the student to use them for living expenses:
 - Check the case of claiming $2,000 in education expenses for AOC
 - Check the case of claiming $4,000 in education expenses for AOC
 - ... up to the amount of actual expenses if actual is less than the above tiers.
 - Apply the allocation that is most beneficial for the client.
- Taxable scholarship/grant income is reported on the student's return when the amount exceeds qualifying education expenses.
- Tax credits are reported on the tax return of the taxpayer who claims the student as a dependent. The student claims the credit if no taxpayer claims him as a dependent.
- Form 8615 is required and out-of-scope when the dependent has more than $2,700 in unearned income (including taxable scholarship) and has a filing requirement. See Pub 4012, A-4.
